This image shows a page of handwritten musical notation on five staves. The notation is primarily in black ink, consisting of vertical stems and horizontal strokes. Red ink has been used to add various markings, likely for rehearsal or performance purposes. These markings include:

- Dynamics: Red 'P' (piano) and red 'V' (forte) markings are scattered throughout the music.
- Measure Numbers: Red numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, and 0 are placed above specific measures to indicate performance order.
- Other Symbols: Red 'ПУ' and 'VП' markings appear in several places, possibly indicating specific playing techniques or vocalizations.

The music itself is composed of five staves, each with a different clef (likely C, F, C, G, and C clefs respectively). The notes are represented by vertical stems with horizontal strokes, and there are various slurs and grace notes present. The overall appearance is that of a working manuscript or a rehearsal score.

Cieliana.

This image shows a handwritten musical score for a piece titled "Cieliana." The score consists of ten staves of music, each with a treble clef and a key signature of one sharp. The music is written in common time. Red ink has been used to add various markings to the score, including:

- Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3, 4): These are placed above or below specific notes and measures, likely indicating performance techniques such as fingerings or stroke counts.
- Russian letters: The letters "П" (P) and "V" (V) are frequently used in red, often appearing in pairs above or below notes. There are also instances of "ППV" and "VПV".
- Arabic numerals with superscripts: Such as "1³", "1²", "1¹", "1⁰", "2¹", "3²", "3¹", "4⁰", and "4³".
- Red dots: Small red dots are scattered across the score, particularly in the lower staves, often placed under specific notes or groups of notes.

The score is divided into measures by vertical bar lines, and the overall style is that of a handwritten manuscript.

Allegro

Double

A handwritten musical score consisting of two staves. The top staff begins with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp, and a common time signature. The bottom staff begins with a bass clef, a key signature of one sharp, and a common time signature. Both staves feature six-line staff lines. Numerous black musical notes are distributed across the staves. Red numbers are handwritten above and below the notes, likely indicating fingerings or performance markings. The markings include the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 0, and V. The score concludes with the instruction "U.S. volti" written in cursive at the bottom right.

Sarabande.

Tempo di Borea.

A handwritten musical score for a string quartet (two violins, viola, cello) on ten staves. The music is in common time, with a key signature of one sharp. Red ink is used to add fingerings (1, 2, 3, 4, V, VP, P, PV) and bowing markings (upbow, downbow, and specific stroke patterns) to various notes and rests throughout the piece. The score includes dynamic markings like forte and piano, and a section labeled "1/2". The handwriting is in cursive Italian, with some numbers written vertically or horizontally above the staff. The music consists of continuous flowing lines with occasional stops and changes in dynamics and instrumentation.

Double.

A handwritten musical score for double bass, consisting of ten staves of music. The music is written in a cursive style with various red markings overlaid, likely indicating performance techniques or specific fingerings. The markings include:

- Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3, 4) placed above or below notes and slurs.
- The letter "V" placed above or below notes and slurs.
- The letters "П" (P) and "У" (U) placed above or below notes and slurs.
- Red numbers in superscript (e.g., 0³, 1⁰) placed above or below notes.
- Red numbers in subscript (e.g., 0₂, 1₀) placed below notes.

The score is divided into measures by vertical bar lines, and the tempo is indicated as "Double."

Sonata D^{da} à Violino Solo senza Basso

A handwritten musical score for violin and piano. The score consists of five staves of music. Red ink has been used to add various markings: dynamic signs like 'p' (piano), 'v' (forte), and 'v.p' (mezzo-forte); articulation marks such as 'x', 'y', and 'z'; fingerings (e.g., '1', '2', '3', '4'); and performance instructions like 'vibrato into trill'. The score is written in a cursive, expressive hand, typical of a composer's manuscript.

Стига.

This image shows a handwritten musical score for two voices, likely for soprano and alto, consisting of ten staves of music. The music is written in a traditional staff notation with black ink. Red ink has been used to add various annotations and markings throughout the score, including:

- Handedness Markings: Red letters "П" (P) and "V" (V) are placed above or below specific notes to indicate which hand should play them. These markings are found in every staff across the entire page.
- Arabic Numerals: Red numbers from 0 to 4 are placed above or below notes, likely indicating fingerings or specific hand positions. These numbers appear frequently, particularly in the lower voices.
- Rhythmic Indicators: Red numbers such as "3" and "2" are placed above or below notes, possibly indicating rhythmic values or specific performance techniques.
- Dynamic Markings: Red letters like "Г" and "ГВ" are placed above or below notes, likely indicating dynamics or specific performance instructions.
- Textual Annotations: Red text such as "1", "2", "3", and "4" are placed above or below notes, possibly indicating specific fingerings or performance tips.

The music itself consists of two parts, each with five staves. The top part starts with a treble clef, and the bottom part starts with a bass clef. The music includes various note heads, stems, and rests, typical of classical musical notation. The red markings provide a detailed guide for the performer, emphasizing the importance of hand placement and timing.

A handwritten musical score for piano, consisting of ten staves of music. The music is written in black ink on five-line staff paper. Red ink is used to add various annotations, including:

- Handedness Markings: Red letters "V" and "P" are placed above or below the staves to indicate which hand is playing which part.
- Arpeggiation: Red numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 are used to mark specific notes or groups of notes intended to be played as arpeggios.
- Dynamic and Articulation: Red letters such as "v", "p", "n", and "z" are scattered throughout the score, likely indicating dynamics, articulations, or performance instructions.

The score appears to be a piece of classical music, possibly a sonata or concerto movement, given the complexity of the parts and the use of dynamic markings. The handwriting is fluid and suggests it is a working manuscript or a personal study copy.

V. S. multi p. f.

A handwritten musical score for piano, consisting of two systems of music. The top system starts with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp, and a common time signature. It features six staves of music with various notes and rests. Red ink has been used to add numerous performance markings, primarily slurs and grace notes, to specific notes and groups of notes across all staves. The bottom system begins with a bass clef, a key signature of one sharp, and a common time signature. It also contains six staves of music with similar red markings. The word "Andante" is written above the first staff of the second system. The score concludes with the instruction "Vib. with".

Partia 2^{da} a Violino solo senza Basso.

A handwritten musical score for a single instrument, likely a violin or cello, featuring ten staves of music. The score is written in black ink on white paper. Red ink has been used to add various markings: dynamic signs like 'V' (for forte) and 'p' (for piano), fingerings (numbers 0-4), and slurs. The first staff begins with the instruction 'Allegro' and includes a tempo marking of '♩ = 120'. The score concludes with the instruction 'Segue la Canzone'.

Corrente

A handwritten musical score for a piece titled "Corrente". The score consists of ten staves of music, each with a treble clef and a common time signature. The music is written in black ink on white paper. Red ink has been used to add various markings: some letters and numbers are placed above or below specific notes, likely indicating fingerings or performance techniques. The markings include the letters 'V' and 'P' (representing 'Downstroke' and 'Upstroke' respectively), and numbers such as 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. There are also several slurs and grace notes. The score concludes with a final instruction "D.J. solo".

Sarabanda.

A handwritten musical score for Sarabanda, featuring six staves of music for a string instrument. Red ink is used to add fingerings (numbers 1 through 4) and bowing markings (V, P, U) above the notes. The score includes slurs and grace notes. The first staff begins with a 3/4 time signature.

Giga.

A handwritten musical score for Giga, featuring five staves of music for a string instrument. Red ink is used to add fingerings (numbers 1 through 4) and bowing markings (V, P, U) above the notes. The score includes slurs and grace notes. The first staff begins with a 2/4 time signature.

A handwritten musical score consisting of two staves of music. The top staff is for the treble clef (G-clef) and the bottom staff is for the bass clef (F-clef). The music is written in common time. Red numbers and letters are handwritten above and below the notes to indicate specific performance techniques or fingerings. The score includes various note heads, stems, and beams. The red markings include the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 0, and 1, as well as the letters V and П (P). The score ends with a dynamic instruction 'ff. vol.'.

The musical score consists of ten staves of handwritten musical notation. The notation includes various note heads, stems, and rests. Red ink has been used to add several types of markings:

- Stroking: Red 'V' marks are placed above many notes, indicating a downward stroke. Some 'V' marks have numbers below them, such as '1', '2', '3', '4', '0', and '3'. There are also some 'V' marks without numbers.
- Slurs: Red slurs are drawn over groups of notes, often connecting notes with the same red 'V' marking.
- Arrows: Red arrows point to specific notes or groups of notes, often pointing upwards or to the right.
- Text: Red text labels like 'П' (P) and 'ПП' (PP) are placed above certain notes, likely indicating dynamic levels.
- Brackets: Red brackets group together notes, particularly in the lower staves.

The music is written in a style that suggests it is intended for a brass instrument, possibly tuba or bassoon, given the nature of the strokes and slurs.

A handwritten musical score consisting of two staves. The top staff is for a treble clef instrument, and the bottom staff is for a bass clef instrument. The music is written in common time. Red ink has been used to mark specific notes and measure numbers. The markings include:

- Notes marked with "V" (eighth and sixteenth notes).
- Notes marked with "П" (quarter notes).
- Notes marked with "V" and "П" together.
- Measure numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 placed above the staff.
- Arabic numerals 1, 2, 3, 4, 0, and 2 placed below the staff.

The score concludes with the instruction "V. s. volta pigris".

A page of musical notation on five staves. The notation consists of black dots on a grid system. Handwritten red markings are present throughout the page:

- Red 'V' marks are placed above various notes and groups of notes.
- Red 'P' marks are placed below various notes and groups of notes.
- Red numbers (1, 2, 3, 4) are placed near specific notes or groups of notes.
- Red 'Y' marks are placed near some notes.
- Red '0' marks are placed near some notes.
- Red '1' marks are placed near some notes.
- Red '2' marks are placed near some notes.
- Red '3' marks are placed near some notes.
- Red '4' marks are placed near some notes.

Sonata a Violino solo senza Basso.

Allegro.

This image shows a handwritten musical score for violin solo. The score consists of ten staves of music, each with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and a common time signature. Red ink has been used to add various markings to the music, including:

- Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3, 4) placed above or below specific notes and rests.
- The letters 'V' and 'P' placed above or below notes and rests, likely indicating performance techniques such as vibrato or portamento.
- A circled '2' located near the end of the fourth staff.
- A circled '1' located near the beginning of the fifth staff.
- A circled '3' located near the beginning of the sixth staff.
- A circled '4' located near the beginning of the seventh staff.
- A circled '1' located near the beginning of the eighth staff.
- A circled '2' located near the beginning of the ninth staff.
- A circled '3' located near the beginning of the tenth staff.
- A circled '4' located near the beginning of the eleventh staff.

There are also several slurs and grace notes present in the original score, which have been highlighted with red ink.

Fuga.

A handwritten musical score for organ fugue, consisting of 15 staves of music. The music is written in black ink on white paper. Red ink is used to add various markings: dynamic signs (V for forte, P for piano), articulation marks (dots), and performance instructions. Some red markings include 'VП' (Vivace/Presto), 'П' (Pianissimo), 'V' (Forte), and 'П' (Pianissimo). Articulation marks are placed above and below notes, often with numbers 1, 2, or 3 indicating stroke order. Performance instructions like 'vibrato' and 'sustained note' are also present. The score is organized into measures by vertical bar lines. The handwriting is cursive and expressive, typical of a composer's working manuscript.

The musical score consists of five staves of music for two voices. The top staff is for the Soprano voice and the bottom staff is for the Bass voice. Red ink annotations are placed above the music, primarily on the Soprano staff, to indicate specific performance techniques. These annotations include:

- Fingerings: Numerals 1, 2, 3, and 4 are used to indicate which fingers should be used for certain notes.
- Attack Markers: The letter 'V' indicates a vertical attack (upstroke) and the letter 'P' indicates a horizontal attack (downstroke).
- Dynamic Markers: Numerals 1, 2, 3, and 4 are also used as dynamic markings, likely indicating volume levels.
- Other Symbols: Dots and dashes are used to modify note heads and stems.

The music itself is composed of various note heads (solid black, open circles, etc.) and stems, with some notes having horizontal dashes or dots through them. The Soprano part starts with a series of eighth-note pairs, while the Bass part begins with a single note followed by a series of eighth-note pairs. The music continues with a mix of eighth and sixteenth notes, with the red annotations providing detailed guidance for each note's execution.

A handwritten musical score for two voices, consisting of ten staves of music. The music is written in common time, with various note heads and stems. Red ink has been used to add numerous markings, likely for rehearsal or performance purposes. These markings include:

- Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3, 4) placed above or below specific notes.
- Russian characters 'п' (p) and 'в' (v) placed above or below notes, often in pairs.
- Superscript numbers (e.g., ¹, ², ³) placed above or below notes.
- Red horizontal lines drawn across staves to group measures or indicate specific dynamics.

The score appears to be a vocal piece, possibly a duet, given the two staves. The handwriting is cursive and varies in style throughout the score.

This image shows a handwritten musical score for three voices: Soprano (top), Alto (middle), and Bass (bottom). The music is written on five-line staves. Red ink has been used to add various markings to the score, likely for performance or rehearsal purposes. These markings include:

- Fingerings: Numerals 1, 2, 3, and 4 are placed above specific notes and rests in the upper voices to indicate fingerings.
- Dynamics: The letters "P" (pianissimo) and "V" (fortissimo) are used as dynamic markings.
- Performance Instructions: Some measures contain additional text in red, such as "П П П П" (pianissimo) and "П П П П П П П П" (pianissimo).
- Measure Numbers: Numerals 1, 2, 3, and 4 are placed below certain measures to mark specific points in the music.

The score consists of approximately 15 measures of music, with the red markings distributed throughout the piece, particularly in the upper voices.

A handwritten musical score for piano, consisting of ten staves of music. The music is written in black ink on five-line staff paper. Red ink is used to add various annotations, including:

- Hand positions: Red letters 'P' (for palm) and 'V' (for fingers) are placed above specific notes to indicate hand position.
- Fingerings: Red numbers 1, 2, and 3 are used to indicate which finger should play certain notes.
- Dynamic markings: Red letters 'F' (fortissimo), 'M' (mezzo-forte), and 'P' (pianissimo) are used as dynamic instructions.
- Text: The word "Largo" is written in red cursive at the beginning of the piece.
- Performance instructions: The instruction "W.H.P. V.V." appears in red, likely referring to a specific performance technique or recording note.
